

Come Join Us And Make A Good Turn

The Front Range Woodturners (FRW) is an organization founded in 1989 composed of individuals interested in promoting, supporting and educating its members in the art of woodturning. This art is primarily the practice of spinning wood on a type of machine called a lathe and shaping the wood into functional and artistic items.

Through its membership dues and fund raising events, FRW funds educational and instructive demonstrations, a library of videos, books and magazines and other related non-profit endeavors. FRW is a member of the national AAW (American Associations of Woodturners) and supports the enrichment and education of our members and the national organization.
